About Craftware

Craftware Consultores Ltda. is a software firm founded in 2002 in Santiago, Chile. We specialize in consulting, training and mentoring services as well as software systems development.

We believe that our maturity in object-oriented methodologies and our experience in applying it in all areas of software development craft make us different.

About Enterprise Analyst

Enterprise Analyst (EAn) is a tool build on the strong base of our experience in applying the UML in the software development projects. The goal of EAn is to address the most typical problems of early phase of the software development projects:

- misuse of UML models
- model correction hard to verify
- specification quality assurance problems
- requirements badly captured
- communication with the customer problems, etc.

About Enterprise Architect

Enterprise Analyst as an add-in for Enterprise Architect (EA). EA is the most popular a UML modeling tool in Chile.

EAn high level features include:

- class diagram and state machine compilation and interpretation
- Static model analysis
- Model documentation validation and generation
- UML object and sequence diagrams generation
- Own method implementation language
- Revolutionary "Implementation by capture" feature
- OCL support and object space querying
- EAn is an EA add-in
